PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

PUBLIC LIBRARY, PLAINFIELD, N. J.

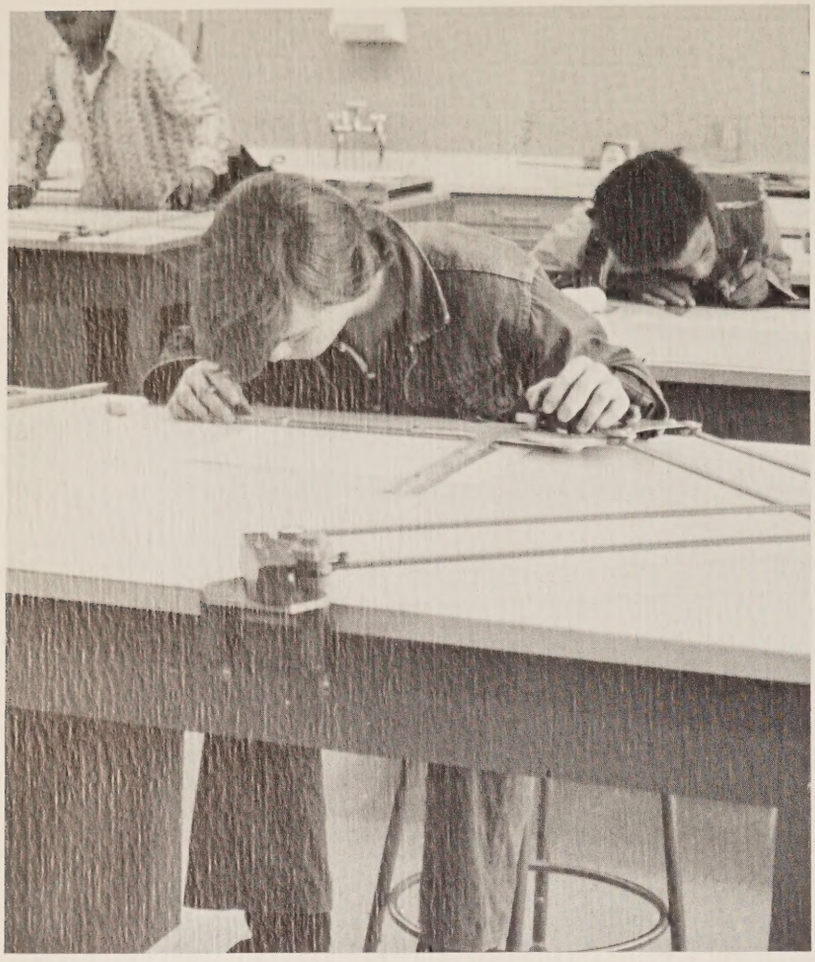

I looked out the window
At the world passing by The groups all passed —
Friends, laughing and chattering.
I watched the years go,
The children grew to teenagers,
They still had their groups,
Friends, and fun,
I still had my window —
And the tired ache of loneliness.
I still had my books, my False front, my biting tongue.
But soon I became tired of watching,
And went to find sleep, to forget . . .

Marty Hanneman
Plaintalk, 1969.

"Remember that there is a meaning beyond absurdity. Be sure that every little deed counts, that every word has power, and that we can do our share to redeem the world in spite of all absurdities and all frustrations and all disappointments. Above all, remember that the meaning of life is to build a life as if it were a work of art. You are not a machine. And you are young. Start working on this great work of art called your own existence."

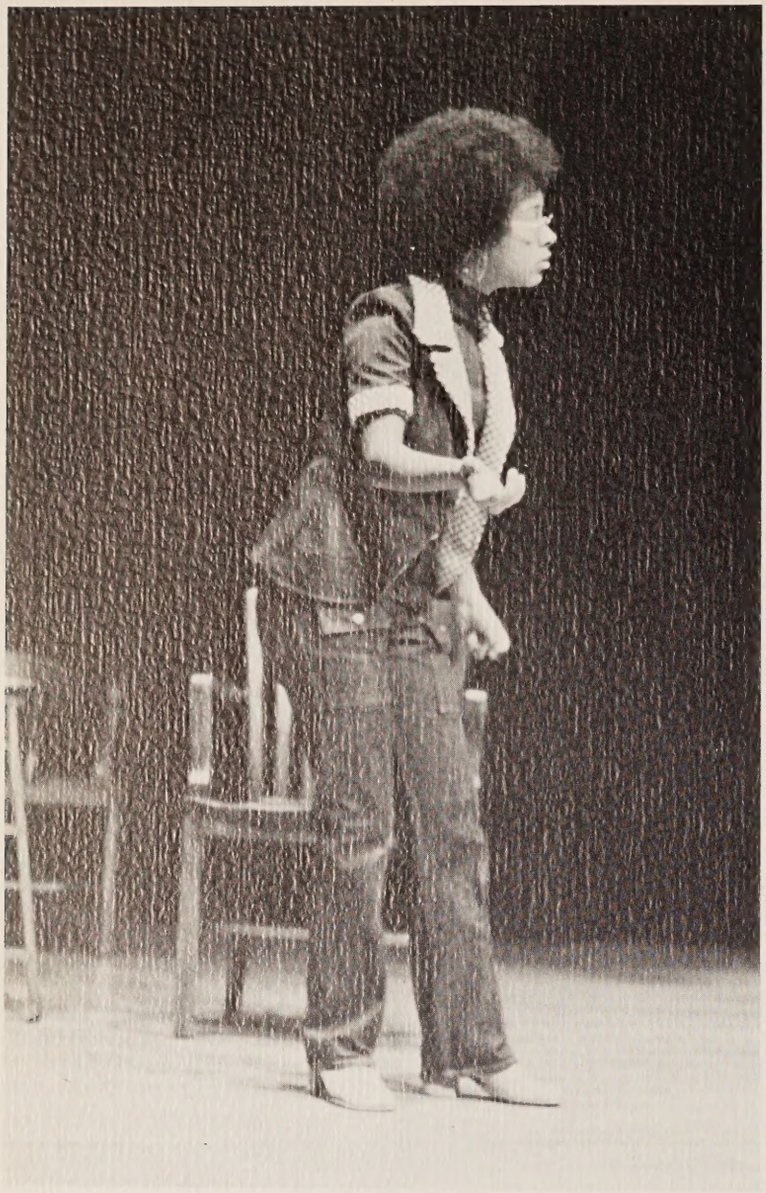

Dr. Heschel

Surrounded by strangers Not only by strange faces but different lives led in many different places and situations

Fleeting friendships, Quickly lost memories,
Confidantes of no lasting value.
But always there.

Michelle Van Ness
Plaintalk, 1971

PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

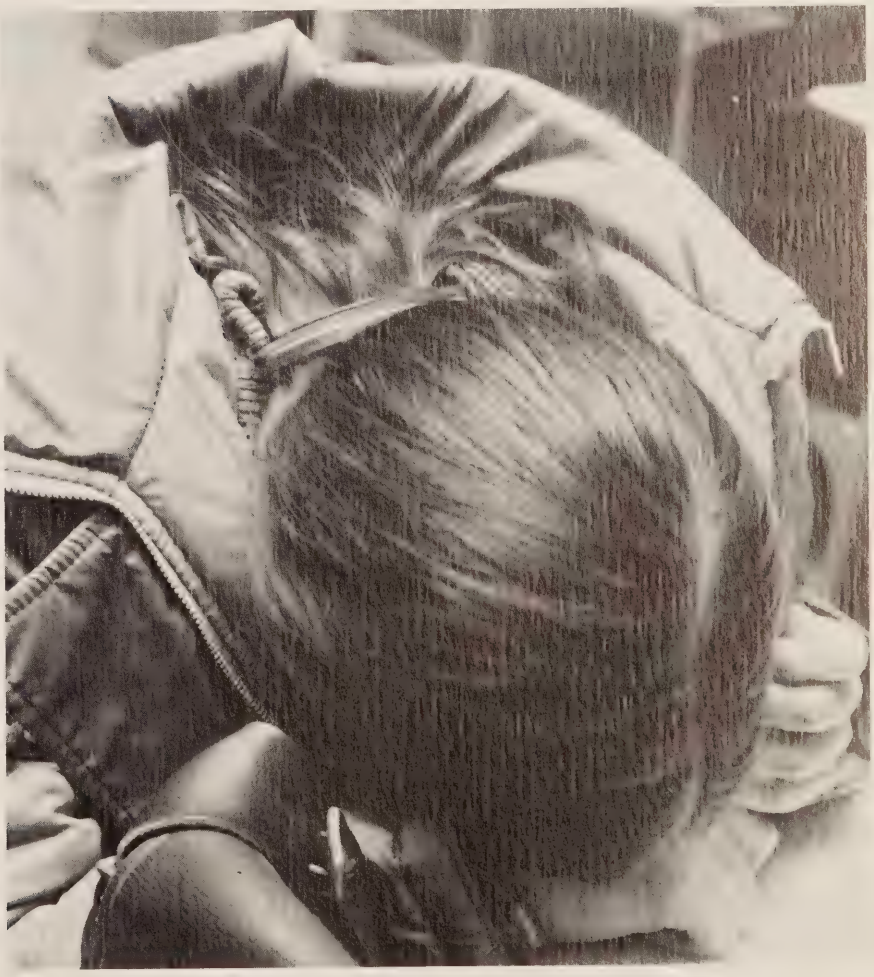

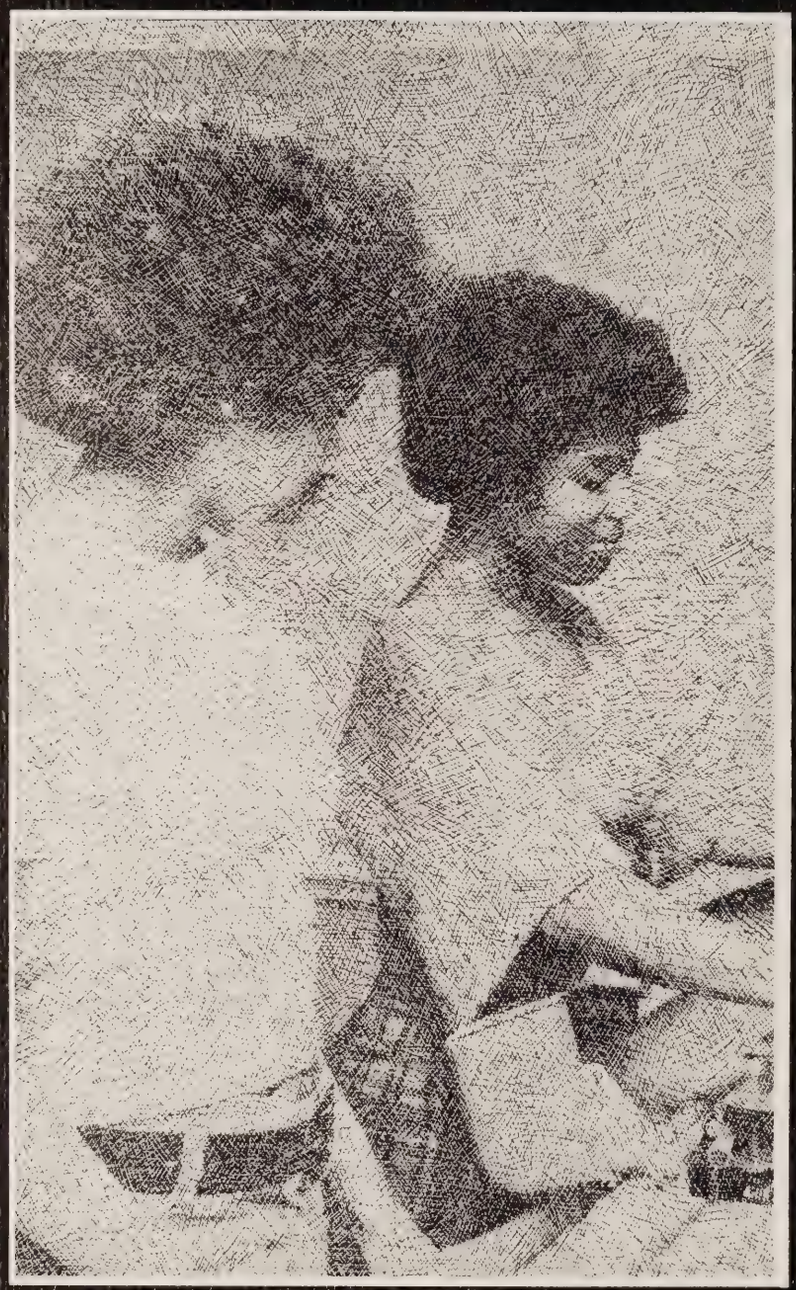

shaky —
when it all comes down to who's better. somebody who really doesn't care about the friendship involved is, indeed, involved in untying a knot that took so many years to form.
it's all too tense.
we don't trust each other the way we did before we were of age
to be accepted;
rejected.
i abstain;
declare peace.
i'm not afraid of your mind,
be it superior or unsound.
if i didn't learn the alphabet as well as you it's too damn late to cry.

Toni Wynn
Plaintalk, 1972.

high school children in your worn blue jeans taking notes you don't care what it means freed at last from eating collard greens soon be working for the big machines leave confusion with the fleeting teens new adulthood earn your bread and beans weight-commitments dull the freedom scenes drive you into taking benzedrines.

FACULTY/ADMINISTRATION

First we beg, plead, then demand black courses,
More black teachers and better black courses.
So here we are in Black Literature,
As for our teacher, we haven't seen her.
For once we come in straight — some come half-way sober.
But all of us are thinking of a way to get over.
Just as we're thinking on how real our blackness will finally be,
In struts our Black Lit teacher: Mrs. Oberstanski!!

ACTIVITIES

Turn your mind inward and let it soar with the spirit of your soul. Then find yourself, learn to harness this vast power, and share it with the world.

E.A.R.T.H.

E.A.R.T.H., Environmental Activists for Restoring Terrestial Health, is one of the school's largest and most enthusiastic clubs. The group's purpose is two-fold: firstly, to stimulate awareness of man's effect on the land and, secondly, to work for the improvement of our environmental conditions. E.A.R.T.H. participants, assisted by Mr. Wong, keep busy by involving themselves in recycling, building artificial reefs for ocean life and launching a campaign against litter.

CHESS / SKI

The Ski Club of PHS, under the supervision of Mr. McGill, is an active group of students who enjoy their sport. They can be found weekly on the slopes of Vernon Valley working on technique and having a great time. Despite occasional casualties, the club has managed to keep on its feet, both on the slopes and off.

Several students joined together this year and decided it was about time that PHS started a chess club. Consequently, a good number of eager chess fanatics, inspired by the charm of the notorious Bobby Fischer, began digging up old strategy books and playing the game. The dedicated club members and their advisor, Mr. Amerikhas, can be found poring over chess boards almost every day after school; a lot of time and thought goes into the game. When our chess team is busily engaged in a match against another school, positive results can almost always be seen.

The Library Council, which works with the PHS librarians, is one of the school's most faithful service organizations. The club finds time to assist the student body at the circulation desk and throughout the rest of the library. The council meets Friday mornings to discuss books, projects and fund raising events.

The National Honor Society is both a school club and a service organization. The group, with the help of Ms. Lewitt, keeps busy with tutoring and with a newly instituted Children's Theatre group which performs for the enjoyment of hospitalized patients. All members of the Henry Banta Chapter meet the requirement of a B average and good conduct according to faculty recommendations.

PLAINTALK / USHERS

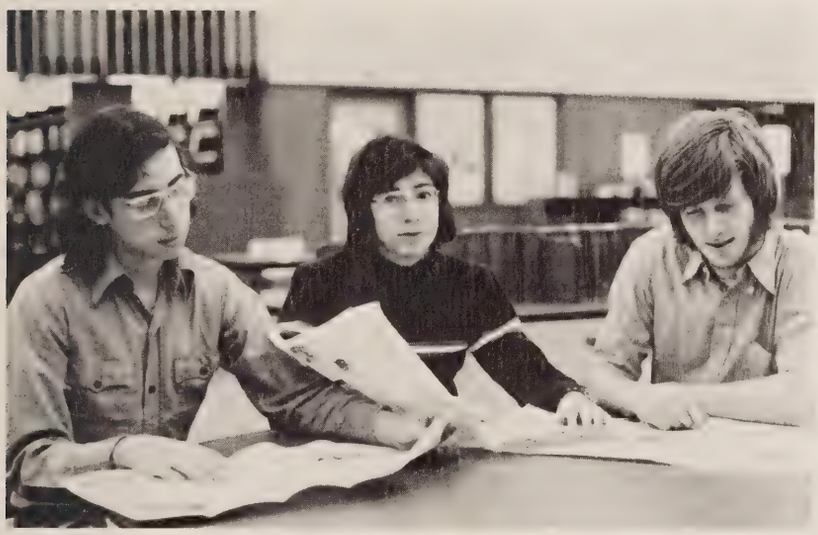

The PHS Ushering Squad, under the supervision of Mr. Thompson, ushers at all school assemblies, evening functions and special events. The squad's service is indispensible to PHS and all its "stage" activities.

Plaintalk, under the supervision of Ms. Rifino, is the literary group of PHS. The club judges poetry and prose submitted by members of the student body and, in many cases, does quite a bit of its own writing. A magazine is published anually containing all poetry, essays, short stories and art work which the group selects. Members meet weekly and discuss works and the meaning of the word esoteric.

The Entree, PHS's school newspaper, does a thorough and imaginative job of recording and commenting on national as well as local and school events. Mr. Beehler helps the staff in the organization of their publication but, in most cases, leaves the actual content of the articles up to the writers. Because there are always stories to be written and deadlines to be met, the writers and editors are more than busy.

SHAFT / B.S.U.

The Black Student Union, assisted by Mr. James, is responsible for promoting black awareness among the students and faculty at PHS. The group was formed in order to meet the growing student demand for the expression of the black point of view. The executive board is the organizational power behind the union.

Shaft, a PHS newspaper, is the vehicle used to express the feeling of black awareness promoted by the Black Student Union. Mr. Robinson and his staff organize and put out this publication for the purpose of expression among the students; it is the official BSU paper.

The Junior Classical League was created in order to stimulate an interest and appreciation of the civilization, literature and language of ancient Rome. Mrs. Camp and all JCL members participate during the year in various games, songs, discussions and an elaborate Latin banquet.

The German Club of PHS is headed by Mr. Buccellato. The group is made up of all those students who have a common interest in the German language and customs. They meet after school to discuss projects which help familiarize them with the German way of life.

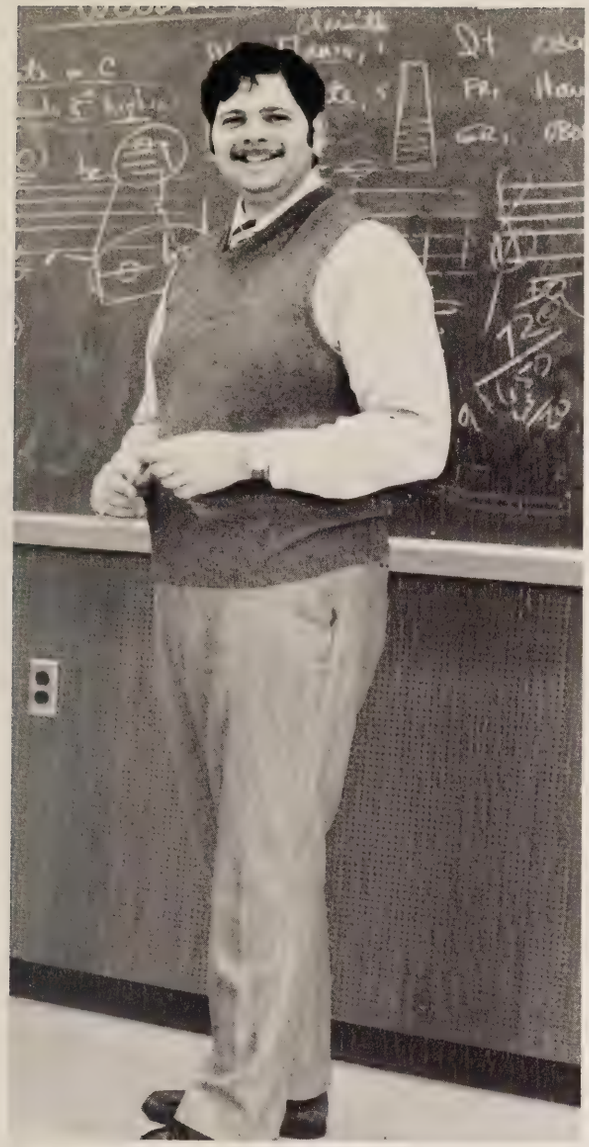

This year's chorus, under the direction of Ms. Floyd, has demonstrated its creative talent in both practice and concert. The selection of songs used for performances and the style in which they are presented becomes more progressive and rhythmic each year because new concepts and techniques in music are being experimented with.

The Handbook Club is a small group of students who, under the supervision of Mr. Schell, are in charge of organizing and putting out the PHS handbook every year.

The PHS band, under the direction of Mr. Duchin, is one of the most talented and dedicated groups. They practice after school and Saturdays in order to put together their half-time show during the football season. The band also performs in concert and at special festivals so that their schedule is a busy one.

A.V. / REACH OUT

The Reach Out Club is a Bible study group which originated two years ago. The group, under the guidance of Mr. Buccellato, hopes to show the Bible in its full context as the word of God. The club is a religious learning experience for its members.

The Audio Visual Aids Squad is in charge of all projection and stage work in PHS. The group, headed by Mr. Zlasney, meets every morning during homeroom period. The members spend most of their time distributing films throughout the building, keeping equipment in working order and helping out backstage for assemblies and plays.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, under the advice and guidance of Mr. Marsh and Ms. Bender, encourages school spirit and unity and gives the student body the opportunity to express itself. This year the Student Council arranged a student exchange program, the Friday Evening Recreational Program (FERP) and various fund raising projects. The officers this year were: Leo Black (President), Albert Davis (Vice-president), Mickey Minister (Secretary-Recorder), and Mike Epstein (Treasurer).

F.B.L.A. / GOLF

Mr. Sierge, for the third consecutive year, is in charge of the PHS Golf Club. The group is set up in order to stimulate an interest in the students to form a strong and dedicated golf team. The members are given demonstrations throughout the year and praactice their "swinging" technique.

The Future Business Leaders of America Club is comprised of all students who are involved in one or more business courses and hope to make business their future. The group is intended to stimulate an interest in enterprise and to help better acquaint students with this field. The group is headed by Ms. Grace and Ms. Smith.

HEALTH SERVICES / KEY

The Health Services Club, advised by Mr. Seaman, was formed for the purpose of serving the community and at the same time, learning about the various health career opportunities available to high school students. The club takes several field trips to various hospitals, studies the problems of public health and often performs service activities. One of these was the stuffing of several thousands envelopes for the Heart Association during its annual drive.

The PHS Key Club, headed by Mr. Falocco, is a service organization sponsored by the Plainfield Kiwanis Club. So far this year the members have visited handicapped children at the Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside and raised money for charity through their annual Foul-Shooting Contest. Other such fund-raising affairs are planned for the future.

DRAMA

The members of this year's Drama Club spend most of their time working on improvisational theatre and practicing for their dramatic presentations with directors Eiffert and Meacham. Their productions this year have included "Skin of Our Teeth", "The Cave of Salamanca", and "Bye, Bye Birdie". The club meets Friday mornings during activity period to read scenes, work on skits and discuss performances.

D.E.C.A./S.S.U.

D.E.C.A., Distributive Education Clubs of America, is a group designed for students involved in the Distributive Education program at PHS. The student-officers are chosen by the members of the club and Ms. Rolak, the D. E. teacher-coordinator, serves as the advisor. The group is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian organization.

The Spanish Student Union, under the supervision of Mr. Latham, was formed this year primarily for the purpose of obtaining a bilingual faculty member. The group meets Friday morning during activity period to develop a sense of unity and awareness among Hispanic students.

STUDENT ASSISTANTS

The inner workings of PHS run smoothly each day with the help of student assistants. This group includes assistants in the front office, guidance office, attendance office, nurse's office and reading center. Also included are students who tutor at Stillman School under the supervision of Mrs. Gundersen and others who tutor at Evergreen School, supervised by Mrs. Hall. The many office aides, who deliver messages and do clerical jobs, provide invaluable service to the secretaries and administrators, and the tutors generously give their time and knowledge to the benefit of many young school children.

The Milestone staff consists of these enterprising, but naive students who endeavor to create a yearbook, and their beleaguered advisor, Ms. Brannon. "Progressive" and "innovative" are the passwords used to enter the office, which is housed in room 235, along with English books and teachers.

LITERARY GUILD

The Literary Guild of PHS is a semi-mythical organization dedicated, in the words of its collective leadership, "to further specific rudimentary values associated with the haute bourgeoisie that would be beneficial if held to heart by all." Literary achievements that this club has energetically executed this year include: the study of sexual insinuations in children's literature and the exploration of self realization through conceptual analysis of the universe.

Racing over the hurdles — Kenny Wells.

Pushing in for the finish.

People rushing by — too busy to have a conversation with,
And then we all say how we're too busy to,
Well, deal with the problems in today's society,
Which — as we all realize — are because we are too busy.
But, then again, how can we slow their pace,
When taught by teachers — "Don't put off to Tomorrow,"
You know how it goes — we all do.
Some clever person brings up, "Haste makes Waste,"
Which I respond to by saying, that's true.
That's true, ideally, but that's not the way
It is. We are all in one great rush,
To accumulate enough money and holdings,
So when we're fifty or sixty we can Slow down and relax. By then we're Too hepped up to slow down.
So the joke's on you. I'd finish this if I had the time.

Scott Haas
Plaintalk, 1972

i perceived,
for a moment,
that i was again lonely, frightened, frantic — running through the antiseptic halls in a desperate search for the biology room assigned to my student number.
who could i trust?
those older and more experienced students would surely laugh and steer me wrong — my peers knew not more than i My map was useless to me for i left it in my locker (Lord knows what the combination was) inches smaller,
pounds lighter, experiences younger,
i, sophomore, stood very very much alone.

Toni Wynn
Plaintalk, 1972

Time transpires and we are tossed into the cold environment of confusing and rapid change. We attempt to cling to the fabric of the past but the material tears and we are left without the roots that are such a necessity to existence.

The tree growing ever upward to embrace the sweet air
Does so only with the knowledge that if it encounters trouble
If someone cuts it — if the wind chops into a branch
The roots — that beneath the surface — still exist.

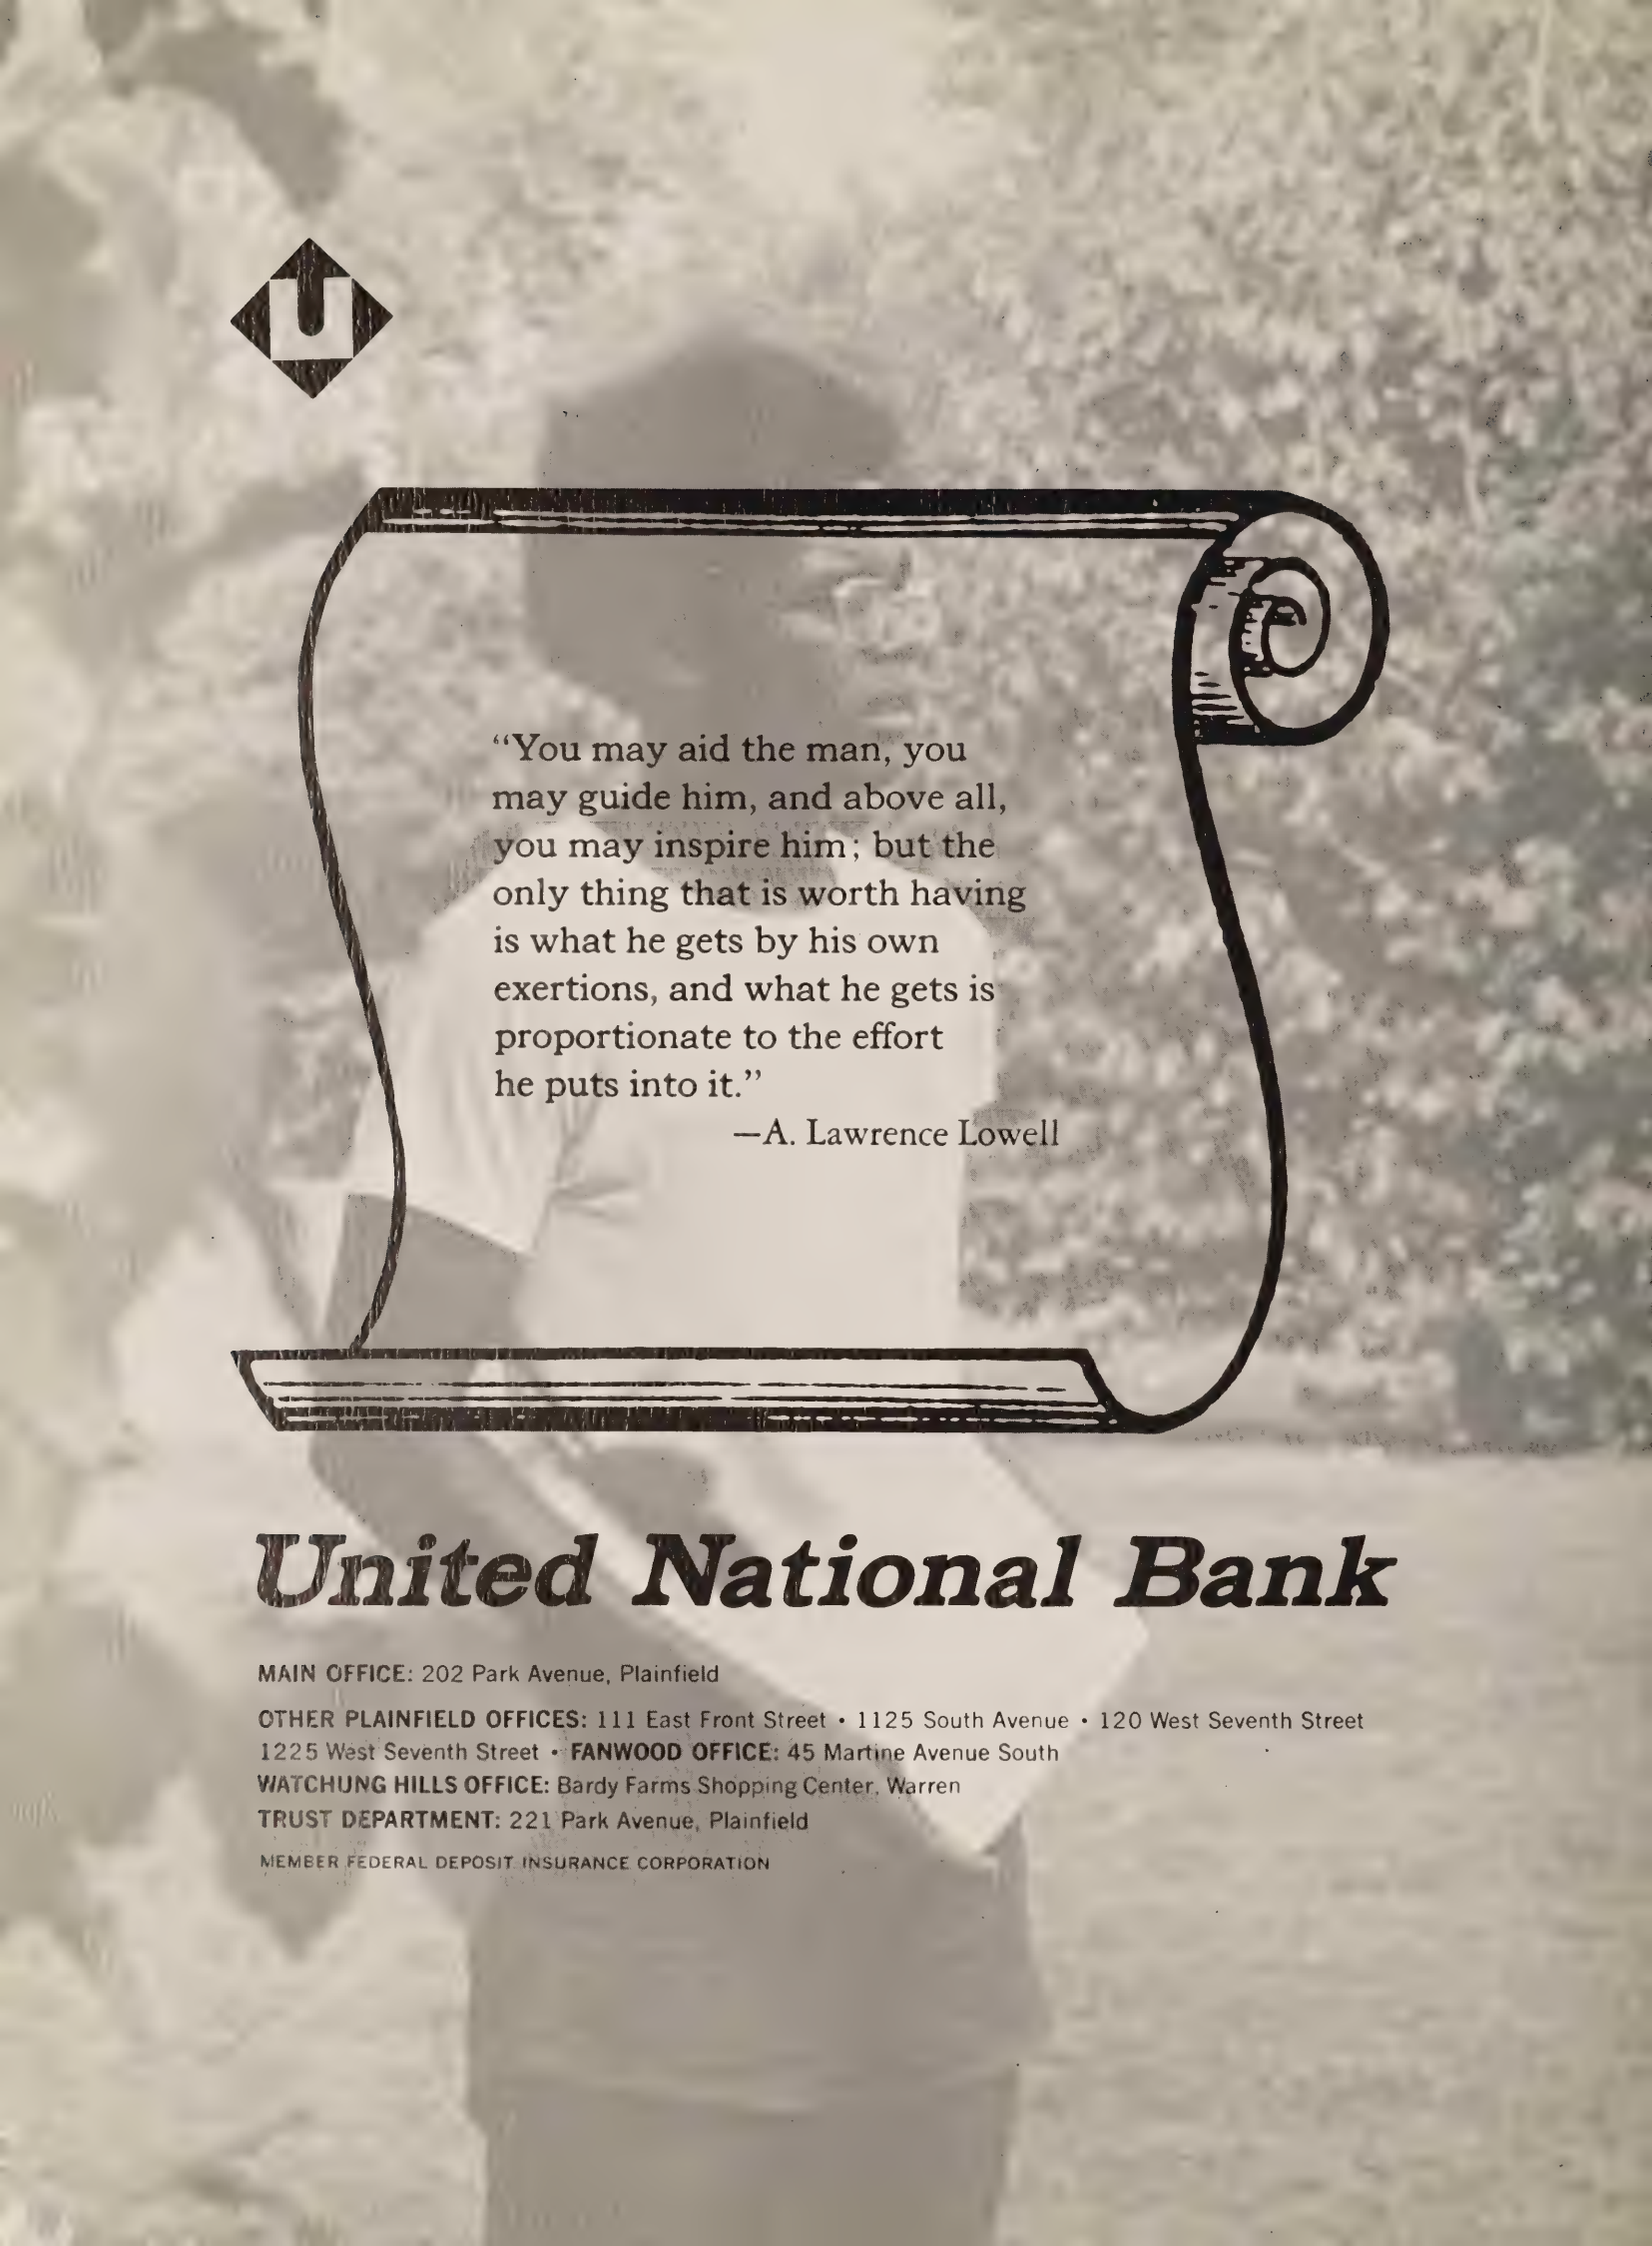

That which was will not be and that which will be was not. The future is anticipation and thus too much is expected which results in depression. The past is gone and thus is viewed subjectively, for the worst is omitted.

If only I had said that to her and then she would have said that to me. Time can be distorted to suit our personal needs -- all the while avoiding any possibile realistic outlook. Fantasy predominates the thoughts and soon the past becomes another escape. Escape from that which we dread — failure.

I don't wear no watch so you betta watch out cause you see I ain't tortured by no escape. I live for now . . . Not gonna mess with no time fear. If I messed up the past — tough! The future is mine. If I make any mistakes I won't realize it until years after. You see I don't wear no watch.

Experiences, those essential to life, are untimed.
